

AUR EOL LUS

A large, stylized feather graphic, rendered in a light tan or gold color, is positioned vertically. The feather's shaft (rachis) runs through the center of the word 'AUR' and 'EOL'. The barbs of the feather are detailed with fine lines, giving it a textured appearance. The feather's tip is at the top, and its base is at the bottom, where it appears to be attached to a small, tufted structure. The overall design is minimalist and elegant, set against a dark, textured background.

Editorial

*E*ARLY last fall at one of the First Board of Directors' meetings of this school year, the question of having a year book here at Quincy was brought into view. Pros and cons were promptly expressed—with most of the pros from the students of course, and the cons from the faculty, with purpose. After considerable debate a committee of four was appointed to investigate the matter.

This committee promptly got to work and sent for information, talked with experienced persons and found out about expenses. A report was given at the next board meeting and a vote was taken in favor of the year book.

Our next job was to obtain the consent of the student association. It was decided to have the matter discussed fully at an assembly and the results of this assembly was the one hundred per cent vote of the student body.

Next came the job of appointing a staff. Students were interviewed by the Board of Directors and notations were made as to the applicants' willingness to work, scholastic records, etc.

We were soon ready to begin work and the business department, under the authority of Dot Thomas, began work. Day after day Jim Barnes and Nick Baum, with their various assistants, brought in subscriptions and advertisements. The Powell Studios from Detroit sent down their representative to take the many fine pictures for the year book. The art angle was handled competently by Viv Reichard; Marilyn Sarber and Pat Houseknecht did a bang-up job on the senior section; sport sections were well taken care of by Joe Normandin and Irene Donnelly; the music department was headed by Doris King and many others, too numerous to mention, did a great deal toward completing the book. Their efforts are greatly appreciated.

After numerous consultations with Mr. Zimmerman, our printer, about pictures, typewritten work, etc., our material was turned over to him for the final stages of completion.

Now you have our first year book in seventeen years. We think it is a fine book and hope that you are as proud of it as we, the staff are. Our thanks go to all who contributed to the publication of this book and especially to Mr. Emerich, who advised us in our work.

Our hope is that next year the book can be bigger and better and may the staff have as much fun as we have had.

Class History

Dear fellow students who will follow us out of Quincy High school, you will know the Senior class as the most behaved and co-operative class in the school.

Most of us started our school days together and will end them together. We will always remember the last four years as the happiest days of our lives.

In the year of September 1943, we started our first days as Freshmen. The first job that we completed was to elect our class officers. They were: President, Bob King; vice president, Loyal Hutchins; secretary, Elinor Parrish; treasurer, Jim Barnes; reporter, Edwin Adams; representative on the Board of Directors, Howard Ely, and Mrs. Brokaw was chosen as our class advisor. We started our year out with 38 students, which was the largest class that year.

The big event of that year was our Freshman reception, sponsored by the Sophomore class. We will never forget that Friday night, with the girls in pigtails and cold cream smeared all over their faces. The boys were so bright with lipstick we were wondering what happened. It didn't take us long to find out that the Sophomores had taken them in hand.

In the fall of '44 we met once again and this time as dignified Sophomores. Over the summer we lost a few of our classmates, namely, Ruella

Elliott, Barbara Henton, James Stewart, Thelma Craun, Joan Koepp and Beverly Babcock, but in return we gained Bob Johnson from Bronson and Gertrude Cottman from Cedar Lake. That made our class a total of 34 members.

We, of course, met soon after school had begun to elect those that were to lead us this year, and the results were: President, Gene Yost; vice president, Bob Johnson; secretary, Gertrude Cottman; treasurer, Jim Barnes; reporter, Joan Loveberry; representative on the Board of Directors, Pat Craun, and Mr. Fischer was picked as class advisor.

It was our turn to initiate the Freshmen and, oh, what fun we did have. It was fun to be on the giving end rather than the receiving.

In April we had a weiner roast with mustard, cokes, and all trimmings. We all went to Waterworks Park in cars furnished by the class. It was the first party we had planned that it didn't rain.

YOST, CHARLES: Good-natured, good-looking, generous Gene — 4 yrs. Band; J-Hop; 4 yrs. F.F.A.; 2 yrs. Class President; Prophecy; 1 yr. Board of Directors; Jr. Play Committee; Freshman Reception; Memorial Committee.

YOUNGS, JANICE: Jolly, jerky, joking Jan — 3 yrs. Cheerleading; J-Hop; 4 yrs. Home Ec. Club; 4 yrs. Band; 2 yrs. Glee Club; Giftatory; Jr. Play; 4 yrs. Fair Committee; 2 yrs. Social Committee; 1 yr. Athletic Committee; 1 yr. Basketball; Variety Show; Class Song Committee; Sr. Play Committee; Financial Committee; Freshman Reception; Year Book.

Came to Q.H.S. as: †—Sophomore; *—Junior; §—Senior.

Class History

Contrary to custom, we elected next years' officers in the spring, and they proved to be: President, Gene Yost; vice president, Joan Loveberry; secretary, Gertrude Cottman; treasurer, Jim Barnes; reporter, Bessie Dowell; representative on the Board of Directors, Pat Craun. With the final rush of exams, our second year came to an end.

When fall came around once again and we were back in the halls of Q. H. S., we found that two of our classmates had left, Amialda Burke and Elinor Parrish. From Allen we gained quite a few students, namely, Geraldine Laskey, Virginia Morrison, Bill Sullivan, Beverly Chase, Irene Donnelly, Bill Foster and Eugene Gratz. Jack Stoddard came from Ypsilanti, Mary Barshney from Waldron, Frances Johnson from Chicago, Dorothy Thomas from Beardstown, Ill., Marilyn Sarber from Wyandotte, Mich., and Alice Clawson from St. Louis, Mo.

The first thing we did was to select Mrs. Ward as our class advisor. Soon after the first of the semester, a representative from the Terryberry company came and helped us select our class rings.

The next important thing to occur was the choosing of our class play. The title was "Mr. Aunt Lucretia" and the cast was made up of Jim Barnes, Frances Johnson, Ray Rogers, Janice Youngs, Russell Sebring, Dorothy Thomas, Junior Adams, Vivian Reichard, Joe Normandin, Patricia Craun, Keith Stemen and Ruth Lindsey. The play, under the direction of Mrs. Ward proved to be a huge success.

Our most important party of the year was the J-Hop and early in the spring the various committees were appointed. Janice Youngs served as chairman. The date set was May 10, 1946. A large turnout looked good to us in spite of our fears due to the rain. Wayne Feller and his orchestra furnished the music. The big event of the evening was the crowning of the King and Queen. Barbara Hamman and Bruce Demarest held this honor. The court consisted of Junior girls, namely, Janice Youngs, Frances Johnson, Ruth Carpenter and Joan Loveberry.

We then elected our officers for our senior year and chose our class flower and motto. Results of the election of officers were: President, Jim Barnes; vice president, Bob King; secretary, Vivian Reichard; treasurer, Irene Donnelly; reporter, Dorothy Thomas; representative on the Board of Directors, Jim Barnes.

The time had come which the class of "46" had looked forward to for many years. It was our turn to help the Seniors at their graduation and we did a fine job ushering the Seniors in at both the baccalaureate and commencement exercises.

Our Senior year began with the election of Mr. Shearer as the class advisor. We lost three of our classmates, Lewis Kirkendall, Geraldine Laskey and Ray Rogers, but we were fortunate to gain three in return—Pat Houseknecht from Highland Park, Mich., Bernard Friend of Trenton, Mich., and Evelyn Rumsey from Hesperia, Mich.

To get things under way, we decided to have a hay ride. The back of Bob King's truck was a fine substitute for a regular hay rack. Although it was a bit chilly, everyone had a fine time.

Our Senior pictures were taken in November by the Powell Studio of Detroit. They reached us at Christmas and most of us were pleased with the results.

Some time during the fall the Board of Directors began work on the idea of having a year book. With the approval of the Student Association and faculty a staff was appointed and work got under way. Frances Johnson was named editor-in-chief of Year Book.

Class History

With start of the second semester, things began to roll for us. Pat Houseknecht had completed the requirements for graduation at that time and left us. Geraldine Laskey and Vern Knapp joined us at this time, also.

Senior committees were named and began to work on various tasks, such as the class poem and song. We ordered our announcements and name cards and had already been measured for caps and gowns.

The Senior play was next important event on the calendar. We chose as our play, "The Late Mr. Early." Mr. MacQueen directed the play. The cast consisted of: Evelyn Clark, a young matron, Marilyn Sarber; James, her husband, Bill Foster; Vera Smith, an heiress, Irene Donnelly; Alice Sewell, a bride to-be, Dot Thomas; Mark Macier, a chess enthusiast, Eugene Gratz; Asher Crump, a young Englishman, James Barnes; Don Early, Alice's fiance, Bob King; Doris Hull, Mark's bride-to-be, Pat Houseknecht; Judge Sewell, Alice's father, Gene Yost; Selma, a colored maid, Pat Craun; Mrs. Fanny Hull, Doris' mother, Bessie Dowell; Amos Comstock, an undertaker, Bernard Friend; Joe Lincoln, a colored boy, Jack Stoddard; Nora, the Irish cook, Beverly Chase.

The Juniors gave us a wonderful J-Hop and everyone had a grand time.

On May 11, we left from Detroit for a three-day boat cruise on the Great Lakes. We arrived at Mackinac Island on Monday morning and spent the day touring the Island for the points of interest. We left the Island late in the afternoon and arrived back in Detroit on Tuesday after a fine trip.

The actual school days ended with the honor assembly. Vivian Reichard is to be commended for attaining the honor of valedictorian of our class. Her record is almost perfect. Vivian also, was awarded the D.A.R. award as by the vote of the Senior class and the faculty. Vivian served as editor-in-chief of the school paper and all through her high school days has been a willing helper.

Joan Polhamus, Irene Donnelly, Virginia Morrison, Joan Loveberry, Ruth Carpenter, Ruth Lindsey and Beverly Chase were honored for their participation in basketball all through high school. Janice Youngs, Marilyn Sarber and Dorothy Thomas will be missed in the cheering section next year, as will the whole Senior class.

The band will miss Gene Gratz, Gene Yost, Joan Polhamus, Bessie Dowell, Pat Craun, Bernard Friend, Irene Donnelly and Janice Youngs. Janice served as drum majorette for several years also.

And now at the close of our Senior year we are busy with last minute rehearsals for the two big events that go with commencement. Plans for our Senior trip are keeping us busy also. We wish to say thanks to everyone who helped us make our high school days the happiest days of our life.

Junior Class History

Upon choosing their officers and advisor at the beginning of the year, the Juniors started on a campaign to raise money which included a magazine drive, sponsoring a show, a booth at the carnival, card sales, a skating party and various sandwich sales.

The main event of the first semester was their class play, titled, "Just Ducky" which gave the members of the class an opportunity to express their talents.

The class rings were ordered and arrived late January much to the delight of the class members. We must admit they have one of the nicest designs we have seen.

They had a fine time at their Christmas party which more or less wound up their activities for the first semester.

The big event of the year came with the J-Hop which was held April 25, in honor of the Seniors. It was a gala affair with a fine orchestra. Every one had a grand time and the Seniors would like to take this opportunity to say "thanks."

To close their busy year the Juniors helped the Seniors with their graduation and baccalaureate exercises and honored them at "Honors Assembly.

The Quincy Oriole Band year of 1946-47 proved to be a successful one. Under the able direction of Donald Buchan we have spent a year of marching column lefts, right flanks and, while playing, trying hard to concentrate on the last four measures before the double bar.

Our debut for the school year came at the Coldwater 4-H Fair where we participated in a Band demonstration. A concert highlighted our trip to the Hillsdale Fair followed by leading the parades for the afternoon and evening.

The Oriole Band marched at every home football game adding greatly to the interest. We concluded our marching season with a trip to the Bronson game in which both bands had a ten-minute performance.

We furnished a short concert at the F.F.A. and F.H.A. Fair in November. We also participated in assemblies and pep sessions.

Our winter concert was held February 19—the spring concert being held in May.

The band did a fine job on their trip to Holland.

Memorial Day's annual march ended our year with indefinite plans as to summer concerts.

Orioles have impressive record

The Quincy football team proved to be very successful in the '46 season. The team started practicing early in September for a non-conference game with the Coldwater Reserve team in which Quincy had an easy victory, winning 19-7. The conference games began with Homer as our first victim, the Orioles winning the hard-fought contest by a 13-6 score. In the second conference game, Quincy exploded and walked over Reading by the score of 20-6. Union City was next on our list and again we proved more powerful by defeating the Maroons by a score of 21-0. The next week, Jonesville traveled to Quincy for our Homecoming game. The powerful Oriole eleven had reason to celebrate when the final score was 13-6, in our favor. The Orioles were given a hard blow the next week when they journeyed to Litchfield and returned home with a 12-12 tie after a very exciting game. In our next game, the Orioles played hosts to the Athens Indians and once more showed their power by winning, 14-7. Our last game of the season was the point of interest for all of the Little 'C' Conference schools. Bronson and Quincy were tied in the championship race. The Orioles started the scoring in the first quarter, but the Vikings came back strong and when the final whistle blew, the Orioles were humbled by a 14-6 defeat. This left Quincy the runners-up in the Little 'C' Conference with a record of 6 wins, 1 loss and 1 tie when the season ended.

Basketball

The Quincy Oriole Basketball team, heavily bemedaled after a colorful as well as triumphant year of conference play, were able to boast an enviable record of 12 victories against only two defeats for the 1946-47 season. In addition to this the local cagers swept the Little "C" Conference tournament in a rapid fire order of three straight wins in as many nights over some of the circuit's strongest opposition.

The Orioles launched their '46-47 campaign with a victory over the Bronson Vikings in a fashion that later was coined as almost a trademark for them. They then went on to conquer seven more teams in a similar manner before finally succumbing to a trophy-bound Litchfield aggregation in a closely-contested battle for the cage leadership title. Quincy then renewed their winning streak long enough to secure their ninth victory before bowing to an equally powerful Reading squad for defeat number 2. That rounded off the Orioles' loss column for the year in conference play and they then wound up the season with three more triumphs.

The Quincy quintet was less fortunate in the season's climactic district tournament as the Reading team again proved themselves one of the few teams capable of overthrowing the Orioles and handed them a 32 to 30 thumping in Quincy's only overtime cage event.

In glancing back over the cage standings of the Orioles on the whole we find that they have a record that they can be justifiably proud of. The student body also has due cause to look at this achievement with a great deal of pride and indeed, with no less pride can we survey the record of the coach who made the team what it was. To Mr. Shearer must go the entire credit of the preservation of the fine name that Quincy High School has long possessed in the field of sports. That reputation has never been equaled by any other conference school and, with the continuance of such guidance, it never shall be.

The Queens zoomed through the 1946-47 season undefeated to keep successful their record. The first game proved the Queens to be a fast-working team with plenty of spirit, also the determination that's been with the Queens a long time—to go undefeated.

To start the season, the Queens went to Athens where they delivered a very exciting game that set the pattern for the seven following victories. All the teams exhibited a fine show of sportsmanship and co-operation.

The most threatening game of the season was with the determined Litchfield girls who were fighting for the championship title, but the Queens proved too powerful for them.
